LOCAL NEWS.

If you see it in the Townsman, it's news to be relied upon; if it is news and so, you'll see it in the Townsman.

Band concert next Thursday evening, weather permitting.

A trolley party from town enjoyed a ride to Boston, Wednesday.

Richardson field is being filled in partially by the waste dirt from Main street.

Thieves have been making free with Dr. Torrey's chickens, so Chief Frye reports.

Fred Collins is temporarily employed at H. F. Chase's bicycle and athletic store.

Charles W. Richardson is acting as substitute letter carrier during the vacation period.

A. Harold Manning has entered the employment of E. Frank Lewis at South Lawrence.

Rev. C. C. Torrey preached at Plaistow, N. H., last Sunday in exchange with Rev. Mr. Carpenter of that place.

Miss Riley, proprietor of the La Fleur de Lis, has been confined to her home in Lawrence by illness several days this week.

Mrs. Darius Richardson has sufficiently recovered from her recent illness so as to be able to assist in the household duties.

The engagement is announced of Rev. A. T. Belknap, pastor of the Baptist church, and Miss Mary E. Blaisdell, of Waterboro, Me.

T. J. Farmer, who has been confined to the house during the past week or ten days with an attack of erysipelas, was able to get out again yesterday.

Miss Jennie Bowman, of Abbott Village, entertained a party of her young friends at her home on Monday evening. A most enjoyable time was had by all present.

The 3rd degree was worked at the meeting of St. Matthew's lodge, A. F. and A. M., last Monday evening. Refreshments were served by Caterer F. P. Higgins.

Fred Angus, clerk at the Tyer Rubber company's office, has resigned his position to accept a clerical place in the North Union station with the Boston & Maine road.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Phillips moved Wednesday from the Pettee house on Bartlett street to the one recently occupied by Mrs. Katharine A. Paine on Phillips street.

The three young ladies who found forty-four four-leaf and seven five-leaf clovers in one bed Tuesday afternoon, certainly ought to get all the luck that's "a'coming to" them.

Among those present at a party given by the Misses Collins, of Morton street, last Monday evening, were John J. O'Brien, John Coppinger, and John Lyons of North Andover.

The new engine was taken out for practice last Friday evening. It has been stated that one of the small trees on Bartlet street was damaged by the sparks from the engine and that the sidewalk near by was covered with ashes.

The Phillips academy summer school opened yesterday, the first of August, with about twenty young men as pupils, a very good showing for the first year in which the experiment has been tried. The school is carried on in a co operative fashion by instructors from various academies and colleges, and the scholars are brought together from many sources to utilize this means of tutoring up for college exams. in the fall.

Mrs. Warren Peabody, of North Reading, a sister of Mrs. George Stiles, Mrs. Andrew Thompson and Henry Symonds, all of Washington avenue, was knocked down and severely injured by an automobile while alighting from an electric car at Waltham, last week. Her daughter, who accompanied her, was not injured. Mrs. Peabody is well known in Andover, and her friends will be glad to learn that her condition, which was at first considered serious, is now more favorable.

Contractor E. W. Pitman has been one of the busiest young business men in town this spring. He is just completing a mill contract at Maynard, which he has been at work on for the past six months. At North Andover, a large stable for Denman Blanchard has recently been finished and other work is under way at Lawrence and Plymouth. Mr. Pitman expects to commence at once the construction of an eight roomed cottage with all modern improvements for one of William M. Wood's foremen, on North Main street, opposite Mr. Wood's place.

"The Man About Town has received some interesting papers found among the effects of the late Moses Foster, of Andover, including receipts for subscriptions to and advertising in the Lawrence Courier, dating as far back as 1851. The 'terms of the Courier,' as stated in a printed note on one corner of the bills, includes the following: 'Advertisements, except those usually denominated Quacks, which will not be published at any rate, inserted on such terms as will afford an honest living.' This would be a good rule to be continued in some of its successors."—Lawrence Telegram.

Proved its Value.

If you have rheumatism, take TARTARLITHINE. TARTARLITHINE is endorsed by the highest authorities, and its merits do not depend upon theory alone. Its value has been demonstrated many times. Those who have used the remedy need no further argument in its favor; they have no further use for it themselves, as they are cured; but many of them have urged others to use it with great success. TARTARLITHINE tastes as good and is as refreshing as the most popular of mineral waters. It does not affect the heart or stomach. It has cured and will cure inflammatory, muscular or chronic rheumatism. Send for free pamphlet.

Mr. Hunt, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "I was a great sufferer from chronic rheumatism, having to go around on crutches. Your Tartarlithine was recommended to me so highly that I gave it a trial. In a short time I discarded my crutches and am now a well man. I will recommend the Tartarlithine to others."

Obituary.

MRS. ADA K. (MEARS) MOTT.

Mrs. Ada K. (Mears) Mott, wife of Albert W. Mott, died at 3.30 o'clock, Wednesday morning, of typhoid fever, aged 28 years.

The deceased was born in Wilmington in 1873, and came to Ballardvale when she was less than three years old. She lived in the Vale about 20 years, when she married Mr Mott, and removed to Somerville. About five weeks ago the family returned to the Vale, but the dread disease which had already attacked each member of the family, proved too much for Mrs. Mott, who was greatly weakened by so much worry and care, and she passed peacefully away Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Mott was a woman of exemplary character and was greatly beloved by a large circle of friends. She was a member of the Franklin Street church, Somerville. Besides a husband and mother, she leaves a son, Leroy, six years old, and a daughter, Florence, three years old, to mourn her loss.

The funeral was held from her late home in the Vale this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, and was conducted by the Rev. Edwin Smith. Interment was in the family lot in Wilmington.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A summer house is more than a delight if there is room in it. It need not be a costly affair. Little folks get even more good out of a rough lath construction, thickly overrun with vines, and floored with nothing more costly than clean earth. The baby can sprawl these upon his blanket through the hottest summer days, or the toddlers play games. Build it low and broad, with doors upon four sides, and in either square, round or octagon shape. Grape arbors yield as much profit as pleasure, if one is at the pains to prune the vines as not to waste all their strength in maintaining unfruitful wood. Fruit buds, it should not be forgotten, come out of new wood—that is to say, fruit of last year's growth. The nearer the roots these new growths come out, the more richly fruitful they will prove. A vigorous shoot will often grow 15 to 20 feet long. Thus cutting away the old vine need not mean spoiling the shade.

HIS CANDOR.

"He has the reputation of being a very candid man."

"Well, yes, he's extremely candid in admitting the faults of others."—Philadelphia Press.

ASTOUNDED THE EDITOR.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver trouble it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at Bliss' drug store.

WHY SHE WAS MAD.

On morning, in kindergarten, a wee mite of womanhood had been trying to attract the teacher by every source of which she was capable, without directly saying that she had something to tell. Finally the young girl went over and sat beside her, whereupon little Rachel flounced her skirts, puckered up her forehead and, clinching her hand, exclaimed: "Oh, dear, but I'm mad." The teacher was surprised, for Rachel had seemed to be laboring under a delightful secret. "And why is little Miss Sunshine angry?" asked the instructor. "Well, everybody was mad at our house this morning. Mamma scolded sister Jane, and auntie scolded mamma, and papa said 'O darn,' and left the table, so I guess I can be cross too."—From Motherhood.

WHAT A TALE IT TELLS.

If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, it's liver trouble; but Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, rosy cheecks, rich complexion. Only 25c at Bliss' drug store.

SHE DID NOT KNOW THE MYSTERIES OF COAT-TAILS.

A young married woman's first wifely experience with the needle resulted in a capital joke. She found what appeared to be two immense rips on the inside of her husband's frock coat, and while he was in the city she carefully sewed them up. When the young man came home to dinner, his wife met him, coat in hand.

"I've just mended it," she said. "There were two awful rips in the tails of it."

"Let me see," said the husband of the industrious woman. "I didn't know there was a tear in it."

"Yes, there was, just there."

"But those are the——"

The young man caught the lock of innocent doubt on his wife's face, and stopped.

"Yes, those were fearful rips—things were getting in them all the time."

And the young man went alone into the tool house and picked out the threads in order to get at his bankbook and a few letters that he had in those tail pockets.—Newcastle Chronicle.

Of Interest to Women.

It is the cool and proper caper to take off one's gloves these days and carry them in the hands. Mittens, too, are taking the place of gloves with our muslin frocks, and the elbow sleeve is most becoming when worn with black mittens. Is this economy or a mere revival of the whim of more than half a century ago, when Mme. Emile Girardin wrote: Women who have beautiful arms take off their gloves and dance without gloves"? It is said that Queen Amelie and the duc de Nemours did not like the innovation, unless it was justified by the lovely arms, and in the majority of cases the arms displayed were the reverse of well shaped; so that one one occasion, when the muster was too lavish, the duke paraphrased or rather purposely misquoted, Corneille:—

"Neither thy country nor thy prince are in need of such arms!" he exclaimed. Several years later the taking off of a pair of gloves caused quite a flutter at the Austrian court. It was at the first dinner party given by the present emperor to his bride. To the intense curprise of the court ladies, Princess Elizabeth took off her gloves before sitting down to dinner. Etiquette which is still very strict at the Vienna court, was then much stricter, and one of the oldest female friends of Francis Joseph remarked upon it to him in a whisper. "Why not," asked the emperor, "if she thinks it more comfortable?" "Because it is not the fashion, sire." "Then she will set the fashion," was the retort.

In these days, when Mme. La Mode has decreed that we shall do without pockets or else have one in an inaccessible position, the designers of handkerchiefs have come to our aid with the daintiest of articles, which they have named "glove handkerchiefs." These are about six inches square. I am sure not more, and are trimmed of the finest Irish lawn or cambric, trimmed with exquisite Valenciennes lace, which are, indeed, capable of being carrier in one's glove or hanging purse.

Here is the swellest thing in shirt cases for The Man. Any man who has one of these may be happy, and he can even pack the case in with a crowd of his wife's shirt waists without a murmur; the shirts are sure to remain immaculate. This case is of leather, a trifle larger than the shirt when it is folded, with a stiff leather covered board back, and above that the leather rising in accordion folds.

Into these folds the shirts go with layers of leather between, and when the entire case is filled there are straps to secure over the top, and there is a convenient piece of trunk furniture, compact and practical, and it only costs $14.50. Of course, it is imported, and what more can a man ask?

The latest luxury is the use of flexible gold busks for stays in place of the old covered articles which held our grandmothers together. The hooking part is set with cabochon jewels, while the usual stay hook, under which the petticoat passes, can be a design of beauty incrusted with diamonds framing the principal stones which are chosen to match the corsets themselves. Turquoise for pale blue, rubies for rose red, sapphires for brighter blue and emeralds for the pale green silk ones. These are the unconsidered trifles which decease one's balance at one's bankers; which reason, after all, that the road to ruin should be a way of sorrows, if a jewelled stay busk or so can convert it into a Via Triumphalis?

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. F. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

A WHITE SUMMER.

White is to have a vogue this summer that no mere tint has ever enjoyed. The blonde, the brunette, the Titian-tressed goddess, the woman with a crown of silver—all are going in for white frocks of every description, except for morning wear. The morning muslin is to be tinged with color—coral, turquoise, amber pale emerald, topaz pink and moonstone gray, even clear sapphire blue relieved with white lace.

Many fashionable summer girls will wear only white shirtwaists this year. Corded silks silk and linen and fine madras and pure linens are the stuffs they will use, but no color will be allowed, not even a dot or a hairline stripe.

Shades of cream and pearl white are allotted to the silver-haired woman by the formulator of fashionable laws. In this instance the autocrat has formed a striking and effective code. The silver-haired woman will look her very best, for unless she is faded and more colorless than the proverbial autumn leaf—even purple is not as becoming to the silver-haired woman as shades of gray and white.

A cream-white gown that is unique is made entirely of military braid in graduated widths, quite narrow at the waist and widening out to the hem; the braid is relieved by open work in sections of silk cord of the same creamy white tint. The bodice pouches slightly in front, and has a yoke and deep-pointed belt at the back made entirely of the silk cording. The open fronts show an inner waistcoat of white silk, embroidered with gold and green beetles's wings over front of tinted net and fine gold.

A cool and summery gown of white poplin has an unusually graceful skirt, which is inlet for a short distance with curved insertions of Valenciennes lace. The remainder of the skirt is set in groups of tucks and lace insertions. The dainty little bodice is of lace and silk and is fastened with tiny gold buttons. A scarf of lilac crepe dechine is folded around the waist to form a high cointure, which is knotted at one side, the long ends falling on the skirt.

An evening gown in oyster-white satin is exquisitely appliqued with trails of ivy leaves in a shimmering lilac gauze outlined with silver sequins and tendrils of silver and pearls; the satin is cut en tablier in front, to show an underdress of white blonde lace, but at the back it falls in a long, sweeping train, arranged in a graduated Watteau pleat gracefully embroidered, and the lovely bodice of satin and embroidery has a bertha of lace.

ELIZABETHAN EMBROIDERY.

A London woman was recently entrusted by the Countess of Warwick with a commission for embroidering a set of hangings for one of the old turret rooms at Warwick castle. The beautiful work is a splendid reproduction of English crewel work of some 300 years ago, and well stood the test of comparison with the original piece from which it was copied.

The design known as the Norwich pattern is a quaint arrangement of boldly drawn scrolls, representing foliage interspersed with clusters of large coral-tinted berries worked on cream linen. At the base is the suggestion of landscape characteristic of so much of the English embroidery of the period, a series of rounded forms indicating hillocks closely embroidered in shades of green, brown and yellow, formal flowers and plants in the foreground, and in what may be taken to be the middle distance, grotesque delineations of deer chased by hounds.

Each of the eight hangings is nine feet in height, and is covered from base to top with the designs, the treatment of which is literally a marvel of stitchery. The prevailing color is rich blue green in different shades, relieved with admirably introduced touches of crimson, brown and gold.

Some of the scrolls are in solid embroidery, others outlined and filled in with wonderfully varied open stitches, reminding one of the quaint category of the Elizabethan poet of the needle, Taylor: "Fine ferne-stitch, finny-stitch, new stitch and chain stitch, Brave bred stitch, fisher-stitch, Irish-stitch and queen stitch. The Spanish-stitch, rosemary-stitch, and mowse-stitch. The smarting whip-stitch, back-stitch and the cross-stitch." The blending of colors in each scroll is as varied as the stitches.

To Mothers of Large Families

In this workaday world few women are so placed that physical exertion is not constantly demanded of them in their daily life.

We make a special appeal to mothers of large families whose work is never done, and many of whom suffer, and suffer for lack of intelligent aid.

To women, young or old, rich or poor, we extend an invitation to accept free advice. Oh, women! do not let your lives be sacrificed when a word of advice at the first approach of weakness, may fill your future years with healthy joy. Address a letter to Mrs. Pinkham's Laboratory, Lynn Mass., and you will not be disappointed.

"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was not able to do my housework. I suffered terribly at time of menstruation. Several doctors told me they could do nothing for me. Thanks to the Pinkham advice and medicine I am now well, and can do the work for eight in the family.

"I would recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with large families."—MRS. CARRIE BELLEVILLE, Ludington, Mich.

Calculations Upset.

Chinese servant stories are epidemic. Here's one, and it's true.

A West Side woman a few days ago was boasting to a caller of the virtues of her Mongolian cook, and she emphasized the latter's systematic methods as his special strong point.

"John finishes his work at precisely the same minute every evening," said she proudly. "I always know exactly where he is and what he is doing at any time of the day.

"Well, what is he doing now?" was asked.

"Let me see. It is 7 o'clock. Well, he has just finished putting the dishes away, and at this moment is sweeping the kitchen. Come, let's go out and see if I'm not right."

They started through the dining room and found everything in its place, as prophesied. In the pantry the dishes were naetly arranged in their customary place. Then they opened the kitchen door.

There in the centre of the room was John, and he was—complacently washing his feet in the dishpan!

The embarrassed mistress and her convulsed guest retired in haste. And he servant problem was dropped.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

PROBATE COURT.

ESSEX, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of Euphemia Millar, late of Andover, in said County, singlewoman, deceased.

WHEREAS, Samuel H. Boutwell, executor of the will of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said County, on the fifth day of August, A. D. 1901, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said executor is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Andover Townsman, a newspaper published in Andover, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Rollin E. Harmon, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of June, in the year one thousand nine hundred and one.

Old Firm Assigns.

The W. E. Rice company, one of the oldest business concerns in the city, has assigned for the benefit of creditors. Lawyer Fred N. Chandler has been appointed assignee and the business will be conducted as usual for the present. The liabilities amount to amount to about $22,000 and the assets are at present believed to be about the same. It is the hope of the assignee to be able to declare a substantial dividend in favor of the creditors.

It is understood that most of the indebtedness of the concern is in Lawrence and that the Bay State bank is one of the heaviest creditors. The bank is said to hold notes and other local banks have the company's paper for various amounts, but it is said that the banks are not involved much more by the failure than are certain individuals.

The assignment was made July 27 and James R. Simpson's name appears on the notice of the assignment on file at city hall as one of the creditors.

The business was established in 1847. At present the company consists of E. W. Hodgkins, president; Willis H. Tewksbury, treasurer and J. R. Gribbin, secretary. The concern has made a specialty of manufacturing blank books and binding books and pamphlets. It has also dealt in paper hangings and interior decorations, commercial stationery, etc. The business has been conducted at 195 and 197 Essex street.

KING CO. DIVIDEND.

At a meeting of the bankruptcy court held Monday morning Judge Thompson announced that a dividend of 20 per cent. had been declared in the H. C. King bankruptcy case.

There have been about 90 claims proven against the concern amounting to over $26,000. Claims amounting to $1008.10 will be paid in full and the 20 per cent dividend will be paid on claims amounting to $25,087.65. It is possible that another small dividend will be declared.

The Storer claim of $300 is not included, as his case has been reported to the district judge for a decision as to whether or not his claim is a preferred one.

As soon as possible John P. S. Mahoney who had charge of the settlement of the affairs as a trustee in bankruptcy, will send checks to creditors covering the amount due them under the dividend.

THE DATE OF SALE.

The trustees of the Globe and Worsted mills met Monday morning and decided upon the date of the sale of the property. The mills will be sold on Thursday, August 22nd. J. E. Conant of Lowell will sell the property at public auction.

WATER BOARD.

At the regular monthly meeting of the water board Wednesday morning D J. O'Mahoney was elected caretaker of filter gallery to succeed M. F. Collins, who has just assumed his duties as superintendent of the water works. Considerable other important business was transacted. President Robinson was in the chair and all the members were present.

The Prudential insurance company collectors and other officials will hold an outing and banquet at Johnson's pond on August 8. The committee is composed of the assistant superintendents.

Barbers to Strike.

Notices were sent out to the local barbers Monday informing them that the Journeymen Barbers' Union, 235, has adopted resolutions covering a new scale of hours.

Unless the demands are granted a strike will be ordered on the third Monday of August.

The demands are as follows:

First—The hours of labor shall consist of 65 hours a week, as follows: Monday, 7 a. m., to 8 p. m.; Tuesday, 7 a. m., to 8 p. m.; Wednesday, 7 a. m., to 9 p. m.; Thursday 7 a. m., to 1 p. m.; Friday, 7 a. m., to 8 p. m.; Saturday, 7 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Second—That all union shops shall close all day on holidays and work until midnight the day previous.

Third—That all employers shall employ none but union men in good standing or those signifying their intention of becoming members of the local union, within two weeks.

The master barbers will meet next Monday to consider the matter.

A PERMANENT MAN.

The board of fire engineers met in regular monthly session Monday night. John T. Larter, at present a call man at station 7, was promoted to be a permanent driver of combination 7, by a unanimous vote. The former driver, James A. Hamilton, will go to Atlantic 2's house, where he will act as driver in place of Helon Smallidge, who recently resigned. Charles F. Lucier, spare driver at the same house, has been filling the vacated position for the time. The monthly bills were approved.

Larter is a well known and popular young man of the Arlington district, and was last year employed as driver on the street department. He lives at 302 Park street.

SENT TO DANVERS.

Albert Persack of 15 Common street has been committed to the Danvers Insane hospital. He had been missing from home about six weeks till yesterday. There were frequent reports made to the police that the missing man was seen roaming about the woods between Lawrence and Andover. Two officers were detailed to catch Persack and they found him Wednesday at his home. He was examined by Drs. Bannon and Cahill and pronounced insane. He is about 25 years of age. Sorrow over the loss of his wife who died in Austria a short time ago is supposed to have unbalanced the young man's mind.

CHAIRMAN SARGENT.

Hon. Charles F. Sargent was unanimously chosen chairman of the Republican city committee at Wednesday night's meeting which was held at the future headquarters, room 27, Saunders block. Mr. Sargent had previously held the office of vice-chairman and his promotion left a vacancy which was filled by the unanimous choice of Lawyer Fred N. Chandler. In each case the secretary was instructed to cast one ballot for the candidate.

J. Rodney Ball has returned from a trip to the Pan American exhibition.

COUNTY NEWS.

Jesse W. Daniels of Middleton was run into Saturday by a wheelman and quite severely injured.

Th new emergency hospital at Lynn was opened Monday. Dr. James E. Keown is to be chief surgeon.

Work will be begun at once at Herrick's shoe factory, Topsfield, as the boiler and smokestack are now ready.

Burglars broke into A. R. Richardson's barber shop on South Main street Middleton, Saturday night and stole 10 razors.

The reserve fund of the Haverhill National bank was tied up for three days. The lock on the door failed to work and the safe had to be pried open.

Dr. W. W. Eaton, H. M. Bradstreet and F. E. Moynahan have been appointed committee on entertainment of the Danvers Improvement society for the year.

A promoter is at work at Gloucester trying to get up a salt fish combine, in which he sees money. The prominent dealers of the city however think the project will not materialize.

Edward P. Spinney, Henry A. Ellis and John Teeder, each 18 years old, and all residents of Lynn, are in custody charged with breaking, entering and larceny.

The grocery store of Henry Kirby and the fruit store of James Fossa of Danvers were broken into last week but little was secured at either place. It was probably the work of boys.

The Boston Transcript says: Peabody's new tax collector, who advertised a lot of estates for sale and, the e by securing $2000 in taxes, seems to be fully aware of his powers and duties.

Daniel Doyle of Gloucester found a lad of 12 years of age tied to a stake in the Boston & Maine yard at that city, Saturday. After being released the boy disappeared before the police arrived.

Henry Ellis and John Teader, both of Lynn, and each aged about 18 years were captured by the police Sunday morning and held for the Beverly police who want both boys for breaking and entering in that city.

Jeffrey Gerrior of Gloucester was arrested at Portland, Me., Friday, for acting suspiciously on the beach at Long Island. Articles found in his possession were identified as having been stolen from a fishing schooner at anchor there.

An interesting feature of the meeting of Bass River lodge of Odd Fellows of Beverly, Saturday evening, was the presentation to Nehemiah H. Heron with an elegant Veteran Odd Fellow jewel, the presentation being made by Past Grand John B. Goldsmith. Mr. Heron has been chaplain of the lodge for 25 years.

Edward S. Cox, a well known citizen of Salem, died at the hospital Saturday evening, after a long illness. He was born in Salem, Aug. 12, 1826, was educated in the Salem schools and was at one time in the ship chandlery business in Boston with his brother, Francis Cox. He retired from active business many years ago. Mr. Cox was never married.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tigh of Peabody and Mrs. Catherine Brush of Danvers were arrested in Lynn Friday for shoplifting. These women are sisters and have been before the court many times for drunkenness and other offences. Mrs. Tigh, who is well known in Peabody, has a long record and crime seems to be a disease with her. Friday they were after diamonds, scarfs, hats and other articles prized by their sex.

Business is just booming in the manufacturing industries of Peabody and many of the larger concerns are increasing the size of their factories to keep pace with the demands of the trade. This enlargement affects all kinds of business and while there is but very little house building going on, the carpenters and masons are as busy as they possibly could be on factory work.

Charles Tibbets of Topsfield who has nearly recovered from injuries received by falling from a staging the first of the summer has again met with quite a serious accident. While going by a horse in Expressman Smerage's barn he was kicked and had a number of

W. E. Chapman of Haverhill was summoned as a witness to appear at the police court in that city and failed to show up. A second summons was sent and unheeded. He was then brought into court and fined $5 for contempt.

The Peabody Historical society, with the Essex Institute of Salem, will hold a field meeting at Proctor's crossing, on Wednesday, Aug. 14, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., providing the weather is favorable, and if not, on the first fair day. The forenoon will be devoted to individual rambling and informal sociability, and the picnic lunch will be at 12.30. The place chosen for the gathering is the former home of John Proctor, hanged for witchcraft at Salem, Aug. 19, 1692, one of the most notable of that martyr band who died rather than lie.

The schooner Braganga arrived in Gloucester Sunday night from a fishing voyage, with her flag at half mast for the loss of two of her crew, Fred Sampson, 27, of Arichat, N. S., and Vincent Dillon, 21, of St. Johns, N. F. The men were lost while attending their trawls, July 17, on the Sable island grounds, having been separated from their vessel during a thick fog. Although the schooner cruised around several days, no trace of the men could be found. Two other members of the crew, lost the same day, were found the day after. Two of the crew of the Schooner Thalia of Gloucester were picked up by the Braganza the day she lost her own men and were brought in today.

A CURE FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker of Brookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering with cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by all druggists.

THE DAFFY DIALOGUES.

"George, dear, I noticed in one of the papers you brought home Saturday night that Mr. Morgan—the millionaire Mr. Morgan you know—is a really lovable husband and father. It seems funny, doesn't it?"

"Does it? I don't see why. Can't he have human feelings in spite of his money bags?"

"Don't flare up so, George, I haven't said anything horrid, have I? It just seems to me that it's funny that a man who has so much on his mind—railroads and banks and boats and things—should have any time or any room, to think of love."

"I understand you my love. Your theory is that a man who devotes all his time to squeezing helpless stockholders will scarcely care to embrace his wife and children."

"Oh, George, how silly."

"You believe that when a man makes a practice of freezing out distasteful boards of directors, he is apt to become a good deal frapped himself."

"What you are trying to get at is that a man who stands around all day watering stocks is apt to thin out the milk of human kindness to a very painful degree."

"Why, George, I never heard you go on so wildly. Is it the heat?"

"The fact is you are quite mistaken my love, in your deductions. A man can have money on the brain without its affecting his heart. I knew a rich man once who would do his level best to swindle orphans out of their little all, and then go home and lavish endearment and every luxury on his wife and children."

"How dreadful! You wouldn't do that would you, George?"

Wouldn't do what? Lavish endearments on you?"

"You know what I mean—swindle widows?"

"I don't believe I could if I wanted to, my love. All the widows I know would be quite too smart for me."

"Now you're talking nice again. And you are real sure that you would love me just as well if you were a millionaire like Mr. Morgan?"

"My dear girl, let us always remember that it never pays to meet trouble half way. No doubt when I'm as rich as Mr. Morgan, I will feed you on nightingales' tongues with ambrosia sauce, and give you melted pearls to drink. But understand me, I make no promises."

"Oh, George, you're so ridiculous."

The "American Wool and Cotton Reporter says of the wool trade:

BOSTON, Mass., July 31, 1901.

The market continues on an even keel with continued cheerfulness, a more or less uniform amount of business, and with more or less of a conviction that the market is to sell higher in the future than the prices of the present. Dealers are more or less chary of predicting the future market because of their lack of success as prophets last year, but that they really do believe that the market is to rise is shown by their feelings, and most of all, their actions. The fact that buyers have been paying high prices out west show that they expect to sell at better prices here. The goods situation at New York is more or less of an enigma. The New York papers have been full the past few days of what they claim is a most unprecedented and most unwarranted reduction in the prices of next season's light weights just opened in New York, as compared with the prices at which the same goods sold last year. The wool trade, however, believe that the reduction in prices over those of last season was expected. Wool is much cheaper now than then. The only question is whether the reduction is greater than the decrease in the cost of wool. And the opinion seems to be that it is not. Scarcely a dealer on the street is inclined to regard the news from New York as of startling importance.

The buying is on the whole distributed, that is to say, the buyers from medium size mills are here as well as the constant visitors from the larger concerns. The smaller buyers are here because they have orders to fill. The repeat orders at New York have been very pleasing. Mills generally have orders enough to keep their machines running through August and perhaps September, and they have had to buy wool in order to be able to execute these orders.

The sales for the week in Boston amounted to 5,790,000 pounds domestic and 310,000 pounds foreign, making a total of 6,100,000 against a total of 6,570,000, for the previous week, and a total of 3,268,500 for the corresponding week last year. The sales since January 1 amount to 134,442,600 pounds, against 77,551,100 pounds for the corresponding time last year.

The receipts of wool in Boston this week amount to 32,627 bales against 30,758 bales last week, and 15,013 bales last year.

The total receipts since January 1 have been 347,612 bales domestic and 83,496 bales foreign, against 210,118 bales domestic and 107,935 bales foreign for the corresponding period of 1900. This is an increase of 137,494 bales domestic and a decrease of 24,439 bales foreign.

Shipments of wool for the week ending July 29 are as follows: Tuesday, July 23, 933,235; Wednesday, July 24, 583,000; Thursday, July 25, 1,068,606; Friday, July 26, 961,505; Saturday, July 27, 1,038,580; Monday July 29, 1,052,970; total 5,637,896 pounds. This shows an increase of 662,762 pounds over the shipments of 4,975,134 pounds for the previous week. Since January 1 the total shipments amount to 142,338,215 pounds.

CHILD WAS TOO GOOD TO BE WELL.

There is an interval of silence; then a sudden peal at the accident bell is heard, and the next moment an agitated parent is seen running down the passage with a child tucked under her arm, its bare legs streaming behind it in the wind of its mother's rapidity.

"What's the matter, missis? Has she swallowed some poison?"

"No, sir; it ain't that," she pants; "but I'm that scared, I don't know 'ardly which way to turn."

"Well, but what's happened? Has she hurt herself?"

"No, sir; and 'er father, 'e's that upset 'e couldn't do nothink, else I ain't used to running like that, and 'e'd 'ave brought 'er up, but he says as 'ow 'e daren't touch her, and I've run all the way, and' me 'eart—"

"Come, now, missis, just tell me quietly what's the matter with the child."

The patient, a pretty little thing of 4, looks inquiringly at her alarmed parent; there seems to be little the matter with her.

"It's all very well yer a-sittin' there and a tellin' of me to be qu'et," cries her mother; "if yer 'ad any children of yer own, yer wouldn't like ter see 'em die afore yer eyes. Oh, dear, oh dear, and there ain't only two more and the baby."

The doctor in despair examined the little girl, but fails to discover anything wrong. "Now, look here," says he firmly, "I can't find anything the matter with your child, so you'll have to go away unless you tel me why you brought her up to the hospital."

"Well, doctor, we was all a-havin' out tea a minute ago as it might be, and 'er father was eatin' a nice bit of tripe as was over from dinner, when Susy, that's 'er, says as 'ow she loved God, and was goin' to 'eaving when she doied. What!" in tones of horror, "ain't yer goin' to give 'er no medi ine?"—Macmillan's Magazine.

A SCRAP OF HUMANITY.

Continuing her entertaining reminiscences, Clara Morris writes:

The play "Miss Moulton" requires a number of children in the first act, and it is further required that one shall be very small.

One Monday evening as I came to my place, I saw the new baby standing all forlorn, with apparently no one at all to look after her, not even one of the larger children. She was evidently on the verge of frightened tears, and from old habit I stooped down and said to her: "Where's mamma, dear!"

She lifted her two startled blue eyes to my face and her lips began to tremble. I went on: "Is mamma here?" The whole little face drew up in a distressed pucker and with gasps she whispered: "She's in 'er box."

I raised my head and glanced across the stage. An old gentleman sat in the box opposite and I knew a merry young party had the one on our side, so I answered: "Oh, no, dear! mamma's not in the box—she's—" when the poor baby cried: "Yes—she is—my mamma's in a box!" and buried her curly head in the folds of my skirt and burst into sobs.

At that moment a hard-voiced, hard-faced, self-sufficient girl pushed forward and explained, in a patronizing way: "Oh, she's too little to say it right! She ain't got no mother—she's dead—and it's the coffin Annie means by the box." Oh, poor baby, left behind! poor little scrap of humanity!

BASE BALL.

Saturday afternoon the Tigers of this town were defeated by the Maple Leaves of Lawrence on the Andover street grounds in Lawrence by a score of 23 to 9. Bad errors at critical periods by the Tigers gave their opponents many runs. For the Tigers Richardson and Duhamel put up a fine game in the field and at the bat, while Covey caught well. The all round good work of the Maple Leaves was what won the game. Striker pitched a good game and had excellent support. The line up of both teams was as follows:

Maple Leaves: McGrady 1b, Dolan 2b, Striker p, Keysig ss, Barineau lf, Dalton 3b, Cronan cf, Kane rf, Lake c.

Tigers: Fournier 1b, Covey c, Cookson 2b, Messer rf, Duhamel 3b, Richardson rf, Foss ss, Healey cf, Nevins p.

Innings,	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
M. L.	3	2	0	0	5	3	1	6	3	—23
Tigers,	3	0	0	0	1	0	1	2	2	— 9

Runs made by Tigers, Covey 2, Duhamel 2, Richardson 2, Messer, Fournier, Cookson. Maple Leaves, Keysig 4, Dolan 3, Striker 3, Borineau 3, Lake 3, Cronan 3, McGrady 2, Dalton, Kane; at bat, Maple Leaves, 52 Tigers 40. Umpire, Collins. Time, 2hr. 10 min.

The Methuen team was crippled by having a number of substitutes. They expect to play the same team again with their regular men and will probably make a better showing. Next Saturday they play the Salem, N. H. team at Salem.

CANDY KISSES 5 CENTS THE REAL THING $1.

A row of maidens, dressed saucily and pretty as an artists's ideal, stood before a tent at the "boulevard carnival," given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Findlay (Ohio) First Presbyterian church recently. In great, large letters, posted over their heads, appeared this legend:

"Kissing booth, a kiss for 5 cents."

Young and old men spent nickels like drunken sailors but when they got inside each was handed a candy kiss.

A general kick was made and in a few minutes another sign went up. It read: "The Real Thing, $1.00."

Not a man was willing to put up this Pan-American price for the osculatory exercise and the treasury was not augmented. Now the conservative element of the church is mad. Conventional members said today that it was madness to display the "real thing" sign and the pretty girls who could not realize $1 for a juicy smack have a poor idea of the young men of the town.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Trees Made for Man.

The beauty of Andover lies largely in her trees. Stately elms and flowing maples cover her walks from one end to the other, and in every direction shady walks and charming drives are made so by the hundreds and thousands of trees that have grown and flourished for many years.

So long have many of these trees stood in our yards and upon our streets, they have become a part of the life of our town. History has been made around them, and stories of child life and business care and strife are associated with them. To cut them would be sacrilege, to bruise them would be a crime.

Thus we are trained year after year to look upon nature's charms around us, and through such reasoning we become almost fanatical upon the subject of "never cutting a tree". But supposing nobody ever cut a tree; supposing the world stood perfectly still is what such a supposition means!

The fact is the sentimental in man gets many hard knocks in passing through this world and it is sometimes the butt of a falling elm that hits him, and sometimes a misplaced confidence in his fellowmen. In either case he usually survives the shock, and if he is a sensible man, promptly, in the first case, plants a new tree in some other more desirable place, and in the latter case, looks up a new person in whom to place his trust.

The world moves. Old ideas pass by, and new notions hold sway. The march of progress says in one case that a steam railroad must go directly through some old resident's favorite orchard and the law first adjusts the damage, and time very soon heals the wounded feelings. The same sort of a march of progress, says that a long time naturally beautiful highway must be changed to a great thoroughfare, and the same law adjusts these damages and again time will very soon plant new trees and make a new street, that shall be more beautiful than the first and heal all troubled minds.

Let us never love the trees any less than we do now, but let us remember at the same time that they were created for mankind and not mankind for them.

Time for Prompt Action.

There is no doubt about a very serious dissatisfaction with the town water, whatever may be said as to any actual trouble with the water itself.

There seems to be a very general belief that not the whole difficulty has yet been discovered by the officials. To be sure the report by the State board of health seems good authority for the belief that the trouble is not dangerous to health, but, even with that as a fact, the taste and smell are not pleasant according to many citizens. So much exorcised over this condition have many become, that a movement is already started to reopen wells that have been long out of use, and several such are already in commission.

In view of the condition, what is to be done? The town has for a long time, and very properly so, prided itself upon its superior water supply. To have anything happen to it is a serious matter. To remedy it quickly and thoroughly is very important. If the remedy cannot be applied in four months by those who have charge of the business, the public is certainly justified in demanding, what scores are demanding—that expert advice be called in to make a thorough inspection of the entire water system of the town.

In serious illness the attending physician calls into consultation the most famous specialist his money and judgment can secure, and the town's course in doctoring its water supply would seem to be wisely along similar lines. Certainly many citizens would feel better if the judgment of the local board was passed upon by other experts in water supply matters.

Plea for More Flowers.

The Flower Mission has had very few flowers to send to Boston this summer and it is a great dissapointment to those who receive them. There is no mission which yields more good for the amount of work done and surely if the people who have gardens realized the good they can do by a few flowers they would make an effort to remember that any flowers left at Mrs. Dr. Abbott's on Friday afternoon will be cared for and sent where they will do much good.

NEW FILTERER

System Installed at Haggetts Pond Which Is Expected To Overcome Troubles with Town Water.

Under the direction of the Board of Public Works a filtering bed arrangement is being put in on the land of Charles L. Bailey, proprietor of Shady Side grove, which it is hoped will do away with the unpleasant taste and smell now observable in the town's water supply.

A brook runs through a swamp upon Bailey's land and empties into the pond not far from the place where the water is taken through the suction pipe and pumped to the reservoir. As before explained, it is almost a positive fact that the bad smell and taste emanates from vegetable matter bred in the swamp and carried by the brook into the pond. To get rid of this vegetable matter before it reaches the pond will be the object of the town authorities.

A scheme to accomplish this, originating with one of the board, John L. Smith, is being tried. It consists in the construction of a loosely built stone wall about twenty feet in length to one side of the brook, along the face of which a trench will be dug. On the back of the wall, a slanting bank of gravel and a bank of sand will lie between another stone wall of similar construction parallel to and about fifteen feet from the first wall. On the back of this wall will be a trench into which the water from the brook, which will be diverted from its course to the ditch on the face of the first wall, having trickled through the walls and beds of gravel and sand between, will run again into its former bed and thus into the pond. A pipe with a gate will be set in the brook's former course from the end of one wall to the end of the other, and by means of it the supply will be regulated in the winter so that freezing will be prevented, or an excess of overflow.

By means of this filter, which is not expected to cost over $75, the vegetable matter will probably be removed from the water. A trial of the filter after a portion of it was installed has convinced the members of the Board of Public Works that it will accomplish all that is hoped for it. A handful of the sand after the water had been running through it some time had a terrible smell, with all the characteristics of those noticed in the smell and taste of the water.

Injured in Lawrence.

Nellie Flynn, a thirteen year old girl from Somerville, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Hugh Cunningham, of this place, had a very narrow escape from a serious, if not fatal, accident in Lawrence, Wednesday afternoon. In company with her aunt she was standing on the sidewalk nearly opposite the transfer station waiting for a car to Andover, when a runaway horse, which had become freed from the carriage to which it had been attached, dashed up on the sidewalk and struck her, throwing her violently to the ground. The horse passed over her body without striking her again and was later caught. The little girl was picked up and conveyed to Ryder's drug store where a hasty examination was made by Dr. T. J. Daly, who found that her right shoulder bone had been broken and that she was otherwise bruised and injured. He advised her removal to her temporary home in Andover and a hack was summoned, her aunt and the doctor accompanying her to Andover where her injuries were attended to. A boy was knocked down, but escaped with a bruise on his knee.

At Canobie Lake Tomorrow.

The South church Sabbath school will hold a basket picnic at Canobie lake tomorrow, Saturday, August 3rd, weather permitting, i. e., providing it doesn't rain too hard. A special train leaves at 8.45 a. m., and returning leaves the grove at 6.30 p. m. A regular train leaves from the depot in Andover at 1 o'clock and one returns from Canobie about 5. Tickets, which are also good on the regular trains, are now on sale at the depot, the price being 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under twelve years of age. All children of the parish with their parents and friends are cordially invited to attend and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. The chairmen of the various committees are as follows: Transportation, Chas. H. Shearer; boats, Willis B. Chamberlain; games, Dr. Mackintosh; lemonade, Miss Florence I. Abbott.

Will Play for Money.

The Andover baseball team is entered in the contest for the $75 offered by the Central Labor Union of Lawrence, the final game to be played on Labor day forenoon. In the afternoon, a ball game will be played at the St. Laurence's church picnic at Canobie lake, and the boys are entered for that, also. Last year they were successful in winning the prize at this picnic. In the Andover baseball team are gathered together a likely lot of players and they stand a fair, even an excellent, chance of winning one or both prizes. Buchan's arm has been bothering him since early in the season, but should be in shape by the first of September. Phil Reed, who has been filling the box so acceptably for Andover in several of the games, will, of course, not pitch in either of these games.

Athletics at Phillips.

Sidney Peet, the trainer of the P. A. track men, spent Tuesday in town. He has just returned from the Pan-American exposition, where he acted as an official during the national interscholastic meet. Mr. Peet said that several of the athletes who ran during the meet had announced their intentions of coming to Andover in the fall. Among them are Charles B. Long of the Hill school, Pottstown, Pa., who broke the interscholastic record for the 440-yard run, beating Smith of Exeter, doing the distance in 50 1-5 sec.; Thomas H. Shelvin, also of the Hill school, a football and baseball man and a hammer thrower; and an Indian, A. H. Nash of the Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, who won the one-half and five mile races, and finished second in the mile at the meet at Buffalo. Long, of the Hill school, is a football man, and like Shelvin, an all round athlete.

Free Church Picnic.

As usual the Free church picnic, which was held at Canobie lake last Saturday, was productive of lots of fun and amusement for the large crowd of church people and their friends who attended. In the first place, the day was a perfect one and no one will deny that the weather has much to do with making or marring a picnic. But Saturday was ideal!

Quite a little while before train time the intended picnicers, especially the younger element, began to gather at the depot, and when the time came for the special to pull out at 8.45 o'clock, the cars were filled up with as jolly a set of pleasure-seekers as one could find anywhere. At 1 o'clock, the regular train brought up many more to swell the numbers of those at the grove.

The trip to the lake is a short one and quickly finished. Soon after leaving the train the party was scattered about the place each enjoying himself as best suited him. The boats, the bowling alley, the skating rink, the swings, the walks, the cozy nooks, the bathing, all were tried by one or another. At noon the party gathered and enjoyed a basket lunch.

After the regular train had arrived in the afternoon, the sports were in order. There was an exciting boat race between seven boats, each containing a young lady and young gentleman. The first prize was won by Miss Alice Coutts and Alexander Ritchie, with Miss Bertha Coutts and John Angus a close second, and Miss Jennie Gordon and David Coutts, third.

Then there was a very close and interesting ball game between the team from the school and one picked up from the friends in attendance. The school team won by one run, 11 to 10. The nines were as follows: Ritchie, c; Angus, 1b; J. Saunders, p; Soutar, 2b; H. Saunders, ss; Dundas, 3b; Clark, rf; Mackenzie, cf; J. Leslie, lf; Cannon, c; Nolan, 1b; Stewart, p; McTernen, 2b; Sutcliffe, ss; Lawson, 3b; Abbott, rf; Wilcox, cf; Foster, lf.

A few of the picnicers arrived home on the regular train at about 6 o'clock, but the majority waited until the special came down at 7.30 o'clock, returning tired but happy after a day of pleasure unalloyed. Nothing occurred during the day to cast the slightest flaw upon the outing and it can safely be called one of the best ever held by the society.

The committee in charge comprised Arthur Jackson, David May, Alexander Dundas, Miss Helen Ritchie and Miss Ethel Clark, who deserve much credit for their work in making the event such a success.

The Unbidden Guest.

The kitten was small and gray. She seemed perfectly at home in the midst of all these strange surroundings. Not satisfied with one repulse, Pussy entered unmolested and walked confidently and daintily up the aisle. Rev. Mr. Jackson, who supplied the pulpit at the Free church last Sunday morning, was considerably astonished when Kitty ascended the pulpit steps and took her seat with the utmost assurance upon the sofa. Tired, after a little, of sitting still, the kitten made a tour of inspection over the back of the seat. Then, after a return to the platform's floor, she jumped lightly upon the pulpit's top and sat down beside the Bible. She certainly was a church loving and pious cat! The minister stroked Pussy, after which he deposited her gently upon the platform, whereupon the kitten showed that her desire for religious knowledge was not to be thus squelched, by rummaging through the papers beneath the desk. Her search after the true light (or a mouse) was suddenly brought to an ignominious finish when Janitor Alexander Dick paraded up the aisle and removed Pussy to an outside berth, altho' the minister remarked sotto voice, "She is a harmless creature."

Fell from a Ladder.

Frank Pearson, of the firm of Pearson Bros., fell from a ladder leading to the hay loft at their barn, last Saturday afternoon, breaking his shoulder blade, besides injuring a thumb and leg, and receiving other injuries, more or less serious. The brothers, Frank, George and Fred, were in the loft tossing over the hay which was being gotten in. Frank Pearson started to go down the ladder ahead of the others, and when he was about 18 feet from the floor the wood gave way precipitating him heavily to the hard planks of the flooring. He was removed to the house and a physician summoned. His injuries were cared for and at present he is getting along comfortably.

HE SAW IT. WILL YOU?

Bewildering Sights on Every Hand.

One who has recently returned from the Pan-American at Buffalo opines thus:—"It would be difficult for the most gifted writer to adequately portray and describe this wonderful Exposition." In the choice of the site, a most ideal selection was made and the person who has not visited the grounds has but a slight conception of the marvellous beauty and colorings of the buildings. What was a barren waste is now a most artistic park land adorned with a wealth of foliage and innumerable fantastically designed beds of flowers. The part played by electricity in the mammoth show has never been equalled and the grounds and buildings are dazzlingly radiant with an electric illumination which is to the beholder almost bewildering. The Midway is the best yet, according to exposition goers, and in a few, all too short, hours one gets an inkling of the life of half a dozen countries. Uncle Sam has an exhibit which is the admiration of every visitor. Music, and there is music everywhere, and by fine bands and musical organizations, too. Every visitor gets his money's worth and ten times over at that. There are a thousand other features which might be mentioned, but you will see them when you get to Buffalo.

Did you know that the Boston & Maine has several routes to Buffalo? either one of which has attractive features galore; and if you are a Pan-American tourist, send to the General Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine Railroad (X), Boston, for the book "Pan-American Information." It's a corker, and you'll enjoy perusing it. It's free for the asking.

LED FROM THE MARK

Youth and Lightness Too Much for the Doughty Chief in an Exciting Half Mile.

The few moments were wildly exciting for the lad.

Faster and faster behind him thundered those relentless footsteps which represented the law in all its majesty; faster and faster flew his own feet winged by fear as he tried to distance his pursuer.

He could hear the labored breathing of him who was following sharp on his footsteps even as his own breath began to get shorter and shorter. But still on he sped.

The distance between the runners, which at first had narrowed with the initial rush of the pursued and the pursuer until a scant twenty yards was all that separated them, now commenced to widen, almost imperceptibly in the beginning, until the ever increasing space grew from twenty to thirty, to fifty, to a hundred yards.

The race had attracted much interest as they rushed along, across the bridge and up the main street of the place, but no one saw fit to interfere.

Youth and lightness were getting to be factors in the running now, and, finally, a good half mile from the starting point having been traversed, the little red-headed fellow in the lead, dodged quickly into a gateway, scuttled across the lawn, turned in behind one building, then another, until the 200-lb. blue-coated limb of the law lost all track and knowledge of the youngster's whereabouts and was forced to wend his weary way back to the city.

There can be no manner of doubt but Chief Frye did his level best to catch 14-year-old George Cheever, son of George F. Cheever of this place, as any one who witnessed the chief's sprinting match in Haverhill last week Thursday afternoon will testify. His object was a worthy one, i. e., to return him to the bosom of his family, from which he has been a wanderer for several weeks, visiting in the interim such cities as New York, Boston, Methuen, Lawrence and Haverhill, not to mention several lesser centres of population.

The fact of the matter is that George, junior, has been having too good a time, and has no desire or intention of returning until his vacation is ended and the novelty of a wandering life wears off. His experiences, 'tis said, have been numerous and his escapades varied, but however that may be, the funniest move of them all must have been when he led Chief Frye in a half mile run from the Haverhill side of the Merrimack river, across the railroad bridge between the tracks, and up Elm street in Bradford to the Bradford academy grounds where he shook the chief in a game of "I spy."

Chief Frye, learning that the boy was probably in Haverhill, had gone to the down river city in the endeavor to locate him. He was talking with Marshal McLaughlin near the Washington street crossing when whom should he see but young Cheever. The lad saw him at the same time and "stood not upon the order of his going but went at once," with the results recorded above.

According to latest accounts, the boy is still absent from his home.

They Went a Fishing

From Andover last Friday night went forth a party of twenty-nine en route for Marblehead. By trolley they went, by cycle and by train. Arriving at the quaint old town, the wharves were sought and also the good ship "Flying Cloud," which was to be their abiding place for the night and next day. Soon all were installed on board and jollity reigned until the wee sma' hours, in fact, rumor has it that some of those fishermen-to-be did not get as much as a wink of sleep, although a few of them greatly desired to visit the land of nod.

The plan of the party, which, by the way, was under the leadership of Thomas Bentley, whose pleasure it has been to pilot many a crowd of eager fishermen on such an excursion, was to get under way about two o'clock in the morning. But alas! "the best laid plans of mice and men," you know the rest. The tale is soon told. A delay while bait was sought, and then—no wind.

After the morning had been idled away in the harbor, the Flying Cloud finally succeeded in working her way outside and sailed for about three miles, when the anchor was dropped and lines put out. But the hard luck continued and eight fish were all that gladdened the hearts of the twenty-nine eager fishermen. Warren Mooar caught one fish, but it was the biggest, and he got $3 as a prize. Clarence Haskell captured the littlest fellow and received the $1 prize for the smallest fish. With the enormous total of two fish as a result of his skill with the line, George Buchan was awarded the $2 for catching the most fish.

It was rather a disgusted lot of fishermen who reached Andover early Saturday evening.

Proper Picture Frames

If all frames were alike it would not matter where you had them made. But they are not all alike. There is as much difference as there is in the people that order them. Our frames are not only low in price, but they are artistic in make-up and give proper effect to the picture. It wouldn't be a bad idea to give us a chance to show you how "different" ours are from the other fellows'.

Reunion of the Veterans.

Salisbury beach will be the battle-ground on which the veterans who constitute the First Mass. Heavy Artillery Association will fight over in imagination their old engagements and where old acquaintances will be renewed. The occasion will be the 33d annual reunion of the association, to be held on Thursday, Aug. 8, with the headquarters of the "boys of '61" at the Cushing house. A business meeting will be held at 1.30 p. m.

There will be no postponement and an assessment of 50 cents will be levied.

A special invitation is extended to the widows and children of deceased comrades and also to the families and friends of the regiment. Everything will be done to make all enjoy the day. The association is to have the use of G. A. R. hall, tables and chairs. There is a good bakery in the building and the association will furnish coffee. Take your drinking utensils.

Any comrade who is unable to pay the assessment will be furnished a badge. The business meeting will be interesting and lively. A full report of the excursion and dedication of the monument is expected. A souvenir of the trip, containing a picture of the monument, names of excursionists, and full report of speeches May 19, will be sent to any address by the secretary on receipt of 25 cents.

The cost of the special round trip tickets to Newburyport on the B. & M. R. R. will be as follows: Boston, $1.15; Lynn, $1.00; Marblehead, $1.00; Gloucester, $1.00; Salem, 85c; Beverly, 80c; Andover, $1.00; Lawrence, 95c; Haverhill, 65c. Electric cars run from Newburyport in all directions.

Following is a list of the members of the First Mass. Heavy Artillery who have died since August, 1900:

Captain E. A. Andrews, Co. L, died July 5, 1901, St. Louis, Mo.; Hazen S. Pingree, Co. F, died June 18, 1901, London, Eng.; Wm. J. Guethner, Co. F, died April 25, 1899, So. The Essex County Fair.

Last year the Essex Agricultural society made a decided innovation and added a number of features and attractions which, it was believed, would round out the entertainment of the three days and make a welcome addition to the diversion afforded visitors.

The innovation was found popular and profitable and the officers and committees have decided this year on extending this feature and have contracted for better and more extensive amusement devices.

In addition to the continuous vaudeville performances as were given last year, there will be daily balloon ascensions with a parachute and cannon drops. Whippet races and jumping contests by high class hunters, a first class and very lively Midway, and band music galore will aid the extensive purely agricultural features of the fair to carry out a motto which might be expressed in current slang as "something doing all the time."

The program of the fair at Peabody, Sept. 17, 18 and 19, has been arranged and is as follows:

TUESDAY, SEPT. 17.

10.30 A. M.—All entries close at fair grounds.
11 A. M.—All entries close at hall.
1 P. M.—Committee meet to examine stock.
2 P. M.—Drawing match for oxen and horses.
2.30 P. M.—Concert by American band.
4.30 P. M.—Balloon ascension and parachute jump.
7.30 P. M.—Band concert and vaudeville.

The vaudeville performance continuous in afternoon and evening.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 18.

9.30 A. M.—Annual meeting of the society at Peabody Institute.
12.00 M.—Hurdle jumping on fair grounds.
2.00 P. M.—Band concert on grounds and in hall.
2.30 P. M.—Bicycle races.
4.30 P. M.—Balloon ascension and cannon jump.
7.30 P. M.—Band concert and vaudeville.

Prof. Ed. Kelly will present a round of attractions throughout afternoons and evenings of the entire fair.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 19.

10.30 A. M.—Street parade.
12.30 P. M.—Annual dinner of the society in vestry of South church followed by eminent speakers.
2.30—Band concert and vaudeville.
4.30—Balloon ascension and cannon drop.

Dinner tickets for the annual dinner Thursday, $1.

Railroad Matters.

Superintendent Nowell, of the Lawrence division of the Boston & Northern road, expects to have the new rails laid to the Square by Saturday night. Some little difficulty is being experienced at present in making satisfactory connections between the cars from Lawrence and the Reading cars as the officials of the latter road refuse to allow their cars to run down as far as they can over the new rails. They claim that it is impossible for them to do so and make time as the power is insufficient to run their cars back up hill again at any kind of speed. In the meantime, the many changes thus required as the B. & N. road must keep a car the other side of the break for the transfer of passengers, is causing the passengers going through to lose their connections one way or the other on almost every trip.

Frank Shepard, the skillful, efficient and courteous manager at the Lawrence & Reading car barns, has the following description of the new air brakes recently fitted to the cars of their line, in last week's Reading Chronicle:

"Perhaps it would be well to speak first of the Standard Air Brakes which we have been using, also our reasons for discarding them. The Standard is a natural axle-driven compressor, deriving all its pressure from the action of the motors on the car. It carries all its own delicate and intricate machinery, needing constant oiling and cleaning. Also if in need of repairs it was found necessary to remove the entire truck thus incurring great expense and trouble.

"We at last found it impossible to continue longer with the Standard and after casting about for a more suitable and durable system of braking we finally ordered six equipments of the Magann Storage Air Brake, three of which are already in use, the others to come later with new cars. This method merely carries, on each car, a storage tank (8 ft. long) charged with 300 lbs., a low pressure tank, a reducing valve, and the engineer's valves on either end of the car. In fact it does away with all bothersome machinery, making it almost impossible for the brakes to get out of order and giving steady braking pressure.

"The machinery of the Magann Storage Air Brake system is installed in the power station under a competent engineer. It works automatically, and cuts out at 325 lbs. There is a large storage tank near the track where a car can stop and have her tank recharged in a minute. There is also a tank in the station which collects the moisture taken into the air.

"One great benefit is that the brake 'shoes' are not compelled to hug the wheel, while on the Standard where the brakes had to be set very close it was found that the 'shoes' wore much faster.

"It being a new brake (here) we have had little opportunity for experiments, but find the Magann will brake in one-half the distance of the Standard and other motor-driven compressors. On the whole we find it the most satisfactory brake we have seen used and believe it will eventually prove the one in greater use."

His Itinerary.

His nose was decidedly red; also his face, the result, probably, of too much gazing at the sun through the small end of a bottle. His eyes were small and watery, but sharp, withal. His clothes were rather the worse for wear. They showed the evidences of much hard usage, the acquaintanceship with many hay mows, besides a bowing intimacy with the trucks and floors of scores of freight cars.

He walked into the office the other day and asked me if I was the foreman. I said that I had not the honor, whereupon he inquired if he might be allowed the pleasure of making the bosses' acquaintance. Very gently I informed him that it would be no use; that we were not adding materially to our working force at this season of the year.

"Hard luck," he said, "dat's the fairy tale I gets t'rown at me everywheres. I'm a printer and, say, I've tried to get a job in every bloomin' office between here an' Brooklyn and worked just a day an' a half in all. Wait till I tells yer where I've been to. Yer see I took the "50 cent line" from New York to Providence, den I went to Pawtucket, South Attleboro, Taunton, Mansfield, Easton, Bridgewater, Brockton, Campello, (worked a day in Campello, dat's a suburb of Brockton, yer know,) Whitman, Abington, Stoughton, Avon, Canton, Braintree, Norwood, Milton, Watertown, Waltham, Arlington, Lexington, Winchester, Woburn, Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, back to Lawrence, North Andover, and now I'm going down to Reading. I havn't put down the places what didn't have printing offices in," he added.

He inquired how far it was to Reading and I informed him that if he walked it was nine miles, but if he rode in the electrics it was about twenty minutes. He heaved a gentle sigh and said "Well, as I am a stranger round here, I suppose I'll have to do it," thinking of the nine miles undoubtedly. He volunteered the information that besides his day's work in Campello he had got in half a days work haying on a farm, for a meal and fifty cents, but remarked that farming didn't agree with him and that he didn't know much about cows and horses.

I thought he looked as though he might take a job if one was coming his way so gave him a tip that lots of work was being carried on up the hill and he said he was much obliged and would look it up altho' he was not very strong and would have to go easy at first if it was manual labor.

A visit of inspection to the scene of operations a day or so later failed to reveal my friend of the road so it is safe to conclude that his health gave out before he had a chance to accept the position which doubtless might have been his on Andover Hill.

BASEBALL

Andover, 11; Salem Depot, 0.

The Andover baseball team took a brace last Saturday, and with Phil Reed in the box easily defeated their old opponents, the Salem Depot nine, on the Phillips academy campus by the score of 11 to 0. Reed's pitching was a feature of the game. He allowed only two scattered hits and struck out eleven men, three of them in one inning. He was well supported by the team, only two errors being made. Knipes and McNally batted well, making between them five of Andover's six hits.

Wheeler pitched well for the visitors, but his support was poor, as the error column will show. Moynihan, who caught for the Salems, lives on North Main street, Andover. His work behind the bat was excellent.

THE OLD CELLAR.

A treasure cave it seemed to be,
Full of delicious mystery.
Across the windows' narrow panes
The spider swung their silver chains!
Upon the swinging shelves o'erhead
Were jars of jam and jellies spread.
Which, when unsealed on festal days,
Outshone the ruby's richest rays.
In one far corner's dreamy dusk
Ripe apples stored their balm and musk
Huge pumpkins from the next one rolled,
Like giant beads of richest gold.
Ranged upon shelves around the wall
Were firkins short and firkins tall,
Where, youthful palates to entice,
Green pickles swam in seas of spice.
Among them, bulging boldly out,
Was the brown oak cask filled with "kraut."
Perchance that cellar, rough and dark,
Is type of many a man of mark,
Whose mind, unpolished, yet has stored
Rich viands for life's festal board.

CRICKET

Methuen 2nd, 57; Andover 2nd, 53.

An interesting game of cricket was played on the Barker street grounds Saturday between the Methuen second and Andover second teams. The Methuen eleven won by a score of 57 to 53. The features of the game were the batting of Hamer, Driver and Higton for the home team and Brown and Pease for the Andovers. Robinson bowled in fine form for the Methuen. The score:

The first eleven of the Andovers will play a return league game with the Mohairs at Lowell tomorrow afternoon. The Mohairs gave Andover a bad beating July 4th, but the latter expects to give the Lowell a rub for the game. Andover's team will be: Bruce, Parkinson, Ritchie, MacDermitt, Saunders, Peace, Thinn, Brown, Dane, Dundas, Falconer. Reserve, Poland.

The second elevens of the above teams will play a game on the home grounds tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. Andover will be represented by J. Callum, capt., W. Renton, Rhodes, D. Coutts, W. Coutts, Soutar, J. Saunders, Cameron, Fairlee, A. Lindsay. Reserves, Ramsay, Whittemore, Dick.

Eleven ladies from the Free church society spent several delightful hours yesterday afternoon and evening calling upon Mrs. Sarah Gould at her pleasant farmhouse home in the Scotland district. Each took an active part in the story telling and singing of old familiar songs, by means of which the time was beguiled. The ladies took their lunch and had supper on the lawn. Mrs. Gould's 86th birthday will occur next month, but despite her age she entered as heartily as any into the pleasures of the occasion.

Saved by Woman.

Gustav A. Schmidt of 116 Bunker Hill street, the well known jeweler, whose place of business is at 204 Essex street, came very near losing his life at Salisbury beach Wednesday afternoon while attempting to save Albert Maitland of Manchester, N. H., who was seized with cramps while bathing.

Maitland was drowned, being washed out to sea before help could reach him, and but for a woman who rushed into the water and threw Schmidt a line, he would probably have met a similar fate.

The two men were bathing in the surf, nearly opposite the Waverly cottage at the easterly end of the beach, when Maitland was seized by cramps. The recent easterly winds had created a strong undertow and the water was filled with seaweed. Although Maitland was not out beyond his depth, these conditions rendered him powerless and before Schmidt could reach him he was carried off to sea and was lost.

There were several persons on the shore at the time, including the wife of the unfortunate man, but nobody was able to render assistance.

Mr. Schmidt had a close call from being drowned for he went out so far that he was fast becoming exhausted and it was owing to the courage of a woman that he was saved. She secured a pole to which a line was attached, and rushing into the surf she threw the line end to Mr. Schmidt who caught hold of the line and was helped to shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Maitland had gone to the beach for the day, and last evening a broken-hearted widow returned home to Manchester.

A sharp watch is being kept along the beach in the hope that the body will be washed ashore.

At Schmidt's jewelry store, the clerk stated that he knew nothing of his employers' present condition, for all he knew of the incident was what had been told him by a man named Hilbert who witnessed the drowning and who was in this city last evening. The clerk said that the way he understood it, many persons had a narrow escape yesterday owing to the condition of the surf and the undertow. Mr. Schmidt is expected home today.

ARLINGTON CO-OP.

It was gratifying indeed to the many members of the Arlington Co-Operative association who attended the quarterly meeting which was held in Russell hall Wednesday night to hear it announced that the sales for the last quarter show an increase of $14,826.36 over the corresponding quarter of a year ago. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock and the reading and acceptance of the directors' report was the important business of the session.

The total membership of the association on June 30th was 4253, showing an increase as during the last quarter, 1 2 persons were admitted to membership and 112 withdrew.

It was voted that the rate of interest on the capital stock be reduced from 5 to 4½ per cent.

For the directors, the president made the following report:

HAPPY REUNION.

There was an affecting reunion in this city Saturday night when Mrs. Margaret Cogley of 110 Jackson street saw her son for the first tome in fourteen years, or since he was a young ster, three years of age.

The boy was kidnapped by his father after his mother had secured a divorce and although the mother sought constantly for clews as to her boy's whereabouts, it was not till lately that her efforts were rewarded. She learned that the boy had been taken to England and then later brought to this country by his father who took up his residence in Philadelphia. The mother managed to communicate with the boy and inform him who she was and the young fellow immediately resolved to come to Lawrence and live with his mother. He left his home in Philadelphia unbeknown to his father and arrived in Lawrence safely Saturday night.

HANDICAP MEDAL PLAY.

A men's handicap medal play took place on the golf links of the Merrimack Valley Country club Saturday afternoon. There were 18 contestants and a large gallery followed the players.

The winners were H. R. Dow and Paul Clay, having made the largest gross and net scores.

The following scores were made:

THE FIRST HEAVIES.

Arrangements are being made for the 23d annual reunion of the First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery association, which will be held at Salisbury beach on Thursday, Aug. 8. There are several members of the regiment in Andover, Methuen and Lawrence, who are planning to attend the reunion. At the business meeting reports of the monument dedication in Virginia will be made.

John Donnelly of Providence, R. I., is visiting friends on Logan stret.

Miss Edith Golden of Annis street is recovering from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Otto and son have returned from Broadbrook, Conn.

Miss Catherine Donlan is visiting in Lynn.

A Frenzied Horse.

A bad runaway accident occurred about 10.45 o'clock Wednesday morning on Essex street, near transfer station in which Nellie Flynn of Somerville, who is staying with her aunt, Mrs. Hugh Cunningham, at Andover, aged 13, had her right shoulder bone broken and was otherwise bruised and injured; and Joseph Winkler, a newsboy, living at 25 Oxford street, was knocked down and somewhat injured just below the knee of his left leg.

The horse which figured in the runaway belonged to George M. Cole. The animal, which was attached to a light buggy, had been left hitched to a post on the north side of Essex street, just below Heroux's store, while the owner had gone into the barber shop of J. F. Voyer across the street to be shaved.

From some unknown cause, the horse became frightened soon after being left and breaking away from the hitching post started up the street at a lively pace. At Heroux's store the horse turned sharply upon the sidewalk and narrowly missed going through the window of the store. It shied off in time to avoid this, however, and again went into the street, but it had gone only a few feet when it made straight for the sidewalk in front of Cunio's store.

The carriage struck against the tree in front of the store and the horse broke loose and continued its way down the sidewalk. A number of people were standing upon the sidewalk and all tried to get out of the way, but Miss Flynn and Master Winkler were not fortunate enough to escape. The latter was knocked down just as the horse went upon the sidewalk and a few feet further the horse struck Miss Flynn, knocking her to the ground and passing directly over her body.

Several men jumped for the horse to stop him from doing further damage but he was not captured until he reached the corner of Essex street and Broadway, where Henry Bernard, who works at Gurdy's store, stopped him.

The girl who was knocked over was picked up by Thomas Antone, the bootblack who has a stand nearby, and carried her into Ryder's drug store, where Dr. T. J. Daly made a hasty examination. As she was badly bruised and it was thought bones were broken she was placed in a carriage and taken to her home in Andover. Dr. Daly accompanied her and dressed the injuries. It was ascertained that her collar bone was broken and she sustained other injuries. Her aunt was with her at the time of the accident.

The boy who was knocked down escaped with a slight bruise below the left knee.

The owner of the horse, Mr. Cole, was on the scene almost as soon as the accident tood place, and took care of his horse and carriage. The carriage was not badly damaged and the horse apparently sustained no injuries of any consequence.

LABOR'S OWN DAY.

A conference of the Labor Day committees from the city government and the Central Labor Union was held Monday night in the councilmanic chamber at city hall and considerable headway was made towards final arrangements for this year's observance of Labor Day. Mayor Leonard presided and the absentees were Alderman Sherman and Councilmen Bartlett and Linehan. Those present were Alderman Flynn, Forbes, White, Belknap, and Pickles and Councilman Koerner, Hart, Scanlon, Campbell and Evans.

Councilman Scanlon, treasurer, reported for a sub committee that he had waited on the Central Labor union and that representatives of the union were present to confer with the members of the city government committee. Representatives of the C. L. U. addressed the committee and told what they wanted this year and it was evident to some at the meeting that this year's appropriation of $500 did not look large enough, but His Honor Mayor Leonard, took a different view of the matter and the $500 had to go.

After some little discussion as to the best way of dividing up the money, this final disposition was made of it: Music, $300; prizes for parade, $125; baseball, $75. The last was the will of the committee by a vote of 4 to 3, while the other apportionments were unanimous. On a tie vote, Alderman White's motion to set aside $50 for minor sports was lost. The apportionment of the $500 last year was as follows: Music, $184; prizes for parade, $100; sports, $216.

The parade and ball game will take place in the morning, the C. L. U. will hold its picnic at Haggett's pond in the afternoon, and a band concert will be given on the common in the evening. In the parade there will be about 22 organizations, 8 more than last year, making all about 2500 men who will march on Labor day. Seven bands are wanted, but the committee on music will do its best with the apporpriation of $300.

The committees were then appointed by the mayor as follows: Parade, Alderman Belknap and Councilmen Bartley, Koerner and Hart; music, Aldermen Flynn, Sherman, Forbes and Pickles; sports, Alderman White and Councilmen Scanlon, Campbell and Evans.

In accordance with his own request, Councilman Linehan who was absent, was not put on any of the committees.

Full power was given to the committee on parade to select judges to award the prizes for the parade.

VISIT WALNUT HILL.

Mayor James F. Leonard, Superintendent George W. Kingston of the public property department, Lieutenant John T. Golden, I. R. P., and Captain Eugene J. Larrivee of Co. L went to Walnut Hill Monday afternoon to inspect the state rifle range.

The committee went by electric car through Andover and Reading to the Walnut Hill station, which is midway between Reading and Woburn. The mayor will report later to the committee on military and armories, which will soon be called together to take action on the selection of a location for a range for the local military companies.

A Few Words about

Pain-Killer

A prominent Montreal clergyman, the Rev. James H. Dixon, Rector St. Judes and Hon. Canon of Christ Church Cathedral, writes:—"Permit me to send you a few lines to strongly recommend PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER. I have used it with satisfaction for thirty-five years. It is a preparation which deserves full public confidence."

Pain-Killer A sure cure for Sore Throat, Coughs, Chills, Cramps, &c.

Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c.

There is only one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis.'

Hurdy-Gurdy Hop.

The cool weather Monday night rendered the night an admirable one for dancing, and the result was that the "Hurdy Gurdy hop" at the clubhouse of the Merrimack Valley Country club was one of the most successful hops in point of attendance and enjoyment, which the club has ever held. A gathering of about 200 was in evidence at the dance and scores swung partners in the cozy clubhouse to the music on the hurly-gurdy accompanied by Marie Grosse of Boston, who played the tambourine in her inimitable style.

The Italian tamborine player also danced for the gathering and won much applause. During the course of the evening ices and cake were served, and altogether the affair passed off in a most pleasant and satisfactory manner.

The hop was in charge of the house committete of which Dr. Kennedy is chairman. For the first time, the clubhouse was lighted by gas, the installation of the system having been completed only yesterday.

It is the intention of the club that a number of other summer hops will be given before the season is over.

Among the many present last night were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hale, Hon. and Mrs. Caleb Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. R. Kneupfer, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Gabler, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kenefick, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John Porter, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hughes, Hon. and Mrs. A. C. HOT POLITICS.

The Republican state committee has issued its annual apportionment sheet giving the number of delegates apportioned to the different conventions for the present year.

The total number of delegates in the state convention this year will be 1800. so that, if the canvass for the attorney-generalship is carried into the convention, the number of votes necessary to a choice on a full poll will be 901. Unless such a predominant sentiment should be manifested in favor of one of the candidates in advance that he should be left a clear field, it will require only one ballot to determine the issue, since there are but two candidates, and no others in prospect.

In the 1st Essex district a vacancy is to occur in the retirement of the Hon. Henry C. Attwill, who is a candidate for the district attorneyship. The list of candidates for his place in the senate includes Representatives H. Cushing Bulfinch of Swampscott, G. H. Stackpole of Lynn, James E. Odlin of Lynn and ex-Representative Thomas F. Porter of Lynn. There is also a contest in the 5th Essex district, the candidates being Representative Archie N. Frost of Lawrence and G. G. Frederic of Methuen. The district is now represented by a Democrat, the Hon. Guy W. Currier. The candidates for the Democratic nomination are Representatives Cloutier and Desmond of Lawrence.

THEY STRUCK IT RICH.

It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising man as Arthur Bliss secured the agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the wonderful remedy that has startled the world by its marvellous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, as the demand for it is immense. He gives free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantee it to cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. A trial proves its merit. Price 50c and $1.00.

$15,000 BOND.

A bond for $15,000, signed by the Lawrence & Methuen Street Railway company (by James A. Brogan, treasurer), as principal, and the American Surety company of New York, as surety, was filed with the city clerk Thursday by Attorney Poor of the law firm of Fuller & Poor of Haverhill, attorneys for the electric road.

The surety company guarantees the payment, to the city of Lawrence, of the cost of paving Hampshire street from Essex street to Oak street. This money, however, which is in the vicinity of $15,000, will be applied to asphalting the street, the balance of the cost to be paid by the city.

Paving would cost about $2.10 per square yard and asphalting, about $2.80 for the same area. The total cost of asphalting will be in the neighborhood of $19,000, making a balance of about $5000 which the city will have to pay. In other words the city will have the long strip of roadbed asphalted for the small sum of $5000.

James R. Simpson, president of the company, was seen this morning and when asked for some information as to when the road may be expected to be in operation, he replied that there is every reason to believe that it will now be but a few weeks before cars are running over the tracks. The obtaining of power is the chief worriment just at present as the power house has not yet been constructed, but as power is to be brought from Dover, N. H., to Haverhill to operate cars there, it is the plan of the local company to have a wire continued on to their tracks. Mr. Simpson stated that he has been told by good authority that the line ought to be in operation in six weeks, but he questions whether it will be quite so soon.

When the line is in full operation, it is said, the company will have at Canobie lake one of the finest parks in this vicinity. The company intends to boom things and it intends to push the work right ahead just as fast as possible.

GENTLEMEN:

The poultry crop is coming on Statistics show that 50 per cent of the hatch succumb to diseases and lice each year.

Pan-a-ce-a and Instant Louse Killer
Counteract these two evils

There is no use talking; PAN-A-CE-A prevents and cures diseases as no Poultry Food can; it also makes poultry grow fast, healthy and strong.

INSTANT LOUSE KILLER is better adapted for a greater variety of conditions than any other louse exterminator ever known. Being a powder it can be sprinkled on the roosts, nests, and dust-bath, and on the body of animals where it catches the lice at home.

It also destroys sheep ticks, bugs and lice on vegetation.

METHUEN.

Henry N. Hall is ill at his home on Gage street.

Miss Ruby Harris is entertaining guests from Boston.

Ernest G. Marble has returned from a business trip to Canada.

Mrs. Curtis Gilman and daughter visited in Derry, N. H., Saturday.

John Spottiswood is recovering from a threatened attack of diphtheria.

Mrs. Elizabeth Moore of Pleasant street spent Sunday with relatives in Arlington.

Miss Seaver of Brookline is a guest of Miss Marion B. Emerson of Hampshire street.

Miss Eva B. Shaw of French street is spending two weeks at Franklin Falls, N. H.

Miss Mason and Miss Jackson are occupying the Closson cottage at Hedding, N. H.

Mrs. J. D. Price and son Clarence have returned from their sojourn at Hampton beach.

Mrs. George Closson and daughter Mary have returned from a visit to Hedding, N. H.

Patrolman A. B. Gordon is enjoying a ten days' vacation in the western part of the state.

Frank H. Aldrich has been confined to his home on Walnut street by illness. He is much improved.

Mrs. J. Frank Emerson will be one of a party of four who will leave on Wednesday for Monhegan, Me.

The new residence of J. A. Perkins corner of High street and Broadway is completed and will be occupied by Mr. Perkins and his family at once.

Rev. W. B. Taylor, Ph. D., pastor of the Primitive Methodist church delivered the address at the laying of the corner stone of the First Primitive Methodist church of Lowell Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. W. H. Ballard and daughter of Portland, Me., who have been visiting at the residence of John Irving on Broadway left Saturday for Vermont to visit friends there.

The Methuen cricket team was defeated by the U. S. Bunting team of Lowell Saturday by a score of 67—37. The Methuen seconds defeated the Andover seconds by a score 57—53.

Alvira G. Russell entertained the young people connected with the B. Y. P. U. at her home on Pelham street Saturday evening. Supper was served and a social evening enjoyed. George Slader entertaned with graphophone selections.

Mrs. Emma A. J. Bugbee has been elected to the vacancy in the high school caused by the resignation of Miss Jones, and has accepted the position. Mrs. Bugbee has had a wide experience in high school work and will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to the present corps of instructors.

At a special meeting of the Methuen fire department, held Monday night, it was decided to attend the firemen's muster, to be held in North Andover, Saturday, Aug. 10. The matter of making the arrangements was left in the hands of the two captains, George Richardson, captain of Poul Methuen hose, and Bennie Hill, captain of C. H. Tenney hook and ladder.

Work on the New church in the Arlington Heights is progressing very satisfactorily. Already the frame has been erected and boarded in and now the steeple is being constructed and the decorations put on the outside of the building. The design of the new building is something original, and when completed will present an unique as well as artistic appearance. The church is not large but it is large enough to accommodate those in the section in which it is located very nicely.

The indications are that there will be a lively contest for the nomination of the Republican party for state senator in this district. Ex-Representative George G. Frederick is in the field and his friends are determined to nominate him if possible. While the local Republicans have nothing against Archie N. Frost who seeks the nomination, they feel that the nomination of the Republican party from this district rightfully belongs to Methuen. It has been over 20 years since there has been a Republican state senator from this town, Hon. Jacob Emerson being the last. For the past few years it has been the mutual understanding that the Lawrence Republicans would allow a Methuen man the opportunity to run for the office this year, and the local Republicans are a little stirred because of what appears to them an attempt to freeze out the Methuen men. As both Archie N. Frost of Lawrence and Geo. G. Frederick of this town are in to win, it is likely that there will be a sharp contest.

C. N. Perkins & Co. of Lawrence have now completed the new hook and ladder truck which has been ordered for the local fire station, and as soon as the painting has dried sufficiently, which will be in about a week, the truck will be delivered. The one in service here at present will be shipped to Maine where it has been disposed of by the Perkins company. The new truck is a fine one. The frame work is of steel, and the wheels of the Archibald roller ball-bearing make. There are four runs for ladders and above the top ladder is an iron cage running the full length of the truck to accommodate the uniforms of the firemen. There will be one 55 foot ladder and other extension and hook ladders of shorter length. The truck is equipped with two chemical tanks each having a capacity of 30 gallons. There are also the usual running boards, mud protectors, etc. In fact the truck is thoroughly up to date in construction and equipment in every detail. On one side of the truck is painted a picture of C. H. Tenney's mansion and on the other is Nevins Memorial hall. On each side appears the inscription "C. H. Tenney Combination Truck No. 1." The truck weighs about 5000 pounds.

Special Town Meeting.

A special town meeting has been called for Thursday, Aug. 8 at 7.30 p. m. The following articles are to be acted upon:

Article 1—To choose a moderator to preside at said meeting.

Article 2—To see if the town will vote to authorize the selectmen to sign a contract agreeing to indemnify the Commonwealth of Massachusetts against damages which may be caused by the laying out and construction of a section of state highway on Merrimack street, as provided for under chapter 345, of the acts of 1901.

Article 3—To see what action the town will take about entering into a contract with the Massachusetts highway commission in regard to building the section of state highway about to be constructed on Merrimack street.

It was found necessary to act upon the matter in article two because of the fact that on account of the large number of people who own property abutting the proposed highway it was found very difficult for the highway commissioners to secure the signature of each owner to release his claim for damages. Most of the important property owners have sighed the release and the action of the town will cover the remainder.

Article three was inserted into the warrant because of the fact that the Massachusetts highway commission offer to give the contract of construction to the town. There is very little likelihood that the town will vote to enter into the contract, as in the past such contracts have resulted in a loss to the town; still the matter will be acted upon that the selectmen may be instructed to enter into such a contract or not, as the town votes.

SUCCESSFUL LAWN PARTY.

A successful lawn party was held Wednesday evening on the vacant field on Barker street under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church. The affair was largely attended and everything passed off nicely. The lawn was prettily decorated with lanterns and booths were arranged about for the sale of candies, fancy articles, etc. A well had been constructed in the center of the lawn, from which was drawn the lemonade which was served.

The committees on the various tables were as follows: Ice cream, Miss Mary Donohue, Mrs. George E. Blanchard, Mrs. Barrett and William Stanley; candy, Mrs. Frank A. Gordon, Mrs. Edward Marsh; mystery, Martha A. Fifield, Mrs. Albert Richardson and Miss Helen Cairns; lemonade well, Miss Olivia Parker, Miss Dora Coburn, Miss A. P. Whiton and Mrs. Edward Hutchins. The general committee comprised Miss Eva Sargent and Mrs. A. P. Whiton. The entertainment consisted of graphaphone selections by Thomas Hogarth.

Miss Edith Golden is ill at her home on Anns street.

Mrs. J. D. Burly is spending the day at Hampton beach.

Mrs. Edwin Taylor is spending the day at Salisbury beach.

Miss Emma Spurr of Brown street is visiting in Providence, R. I.

Miss Margaret Hynes and Eva Spottiswood are at Old Orchard.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Boynton have returned from a vacation trip.

Asa Kennison is entertaining his brother, Charles of Cambridge.

Friends from out of town are being entertained at the home of Mrs. Mary L. Bailey.

E. H. Archibald and family have returned from their stay at Bailey's Island, Me.

A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Coupe on Carleton street.

Charles Thompson of Craven street is spending his vacation in Boston, Lynn and Salem Willows.

T. C. Hill and grand-daughter, Miss Miriam Hill have returned from a visit to Contoocook, S. H.

Mrs. E. E. Perry of Lowell is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Blanchard in town.

Mrs. Harry Clark of Newton, formerly Miss Grace Smart of this town, was in town the first of the week.

Special Officer Frank McDermott is patrolling A. B. Gordon's beat during the latter's absence on his vacation.

Miss Catherine Crocker, formerly of Methuen, has accepted a position as instructor in French and German in a school at Alfred, N. Y.

Mrs. Ida F. Wilson of Manchester, N. H., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blodgett on Pelham street.

Harry E. and George A. Brown have entered partnership with their father, Kirk F. Brown, the local provision dealer, to take effect today. The new firm will be known as Kirk F. Brown and Sons.

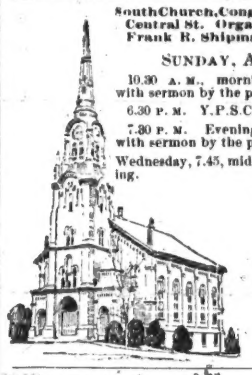

Rapid progress is being made upon the repairs and alterations of the Universalist church. The outside of the church will be much changed in appearance when the work is completed, and from present appearances will present a very attractive front. The inside is to be fitted up in first class shape. A new organ will be installed, which will be filled with air by means of a motor. Two furnaces will be installed for heating and many general alterations will be made to the interior of the church.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Columbia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Dr. Chas. U. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had for a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better, inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by all druggists.

Mrs. Leslie's Title.

NEW YORK —Passengers who arrived in New York on the Oceanic were on tiptoe with curiosity when the vessel reached her pier to learn the identity of a mysterious voyager who appeared on the passenger list under the title of the Baroness de Bazus.

They were surprised and mystified when the baggage was distributed according to the initials of its owners to see the baroness go to the letter "L" instead of to "B." Some of the curious ones stood near enough to overhear a waiting friend say: "Why, how do you do, Mrs. Leslie?" and the mystery was solved. The baroness was Mrs. Frank Leslie.

Mrs. Leslie willingly explained the origin of her title. She had taken it, she said, because she did not approve of the policy of the publications which bear the Leslie name, and did not wish longer to be identified with them.

"This title dates back to the time of St. Louis, king of France," said the baroness. "St. Louis conferred it upon Philippe Picot, the head of a family in Southern France. He had, besides the title of Baron de Bazus, that of Count de Lateyroche.

"This last title is now in the family. I have just come from visiting them, and I had a delightful time."

This is the fifth name that the Baroness de Bazus has acknowledged as her own. Originally she was Miss Marian Florence Follin. She married E. G. Squier, afterward United States minister to Peru, and after she separated from him she married Frank Leslie. After Mr. Leslie's death she married in 1891, W. C. K. Wilde, from whom she obtained a divorce. Among her ardent admirers before she married Mr. Wilde was the Marquis de Leuville, who freely offered his title. It was not accepted and it was shown later that the "marquis" was not a Frenchman at all, but a London tailor's son.

Married Men Must Wear Wedding Rings.

Some of the "unattached" of the more numerous sex are casting about for influence with the legislators looking to the labelling of the male creature, says the New York Herald. Briefly, these estimable young women want the man who is married and the man who is about to be married to wear such announcement of his condition as will inform all the world. As they logically put it:

"When a girl is engaged, she wears an engagement ring, doesn't she? And when a girl is married she wears a wedding ring, doesn't she?" There seems to be no appeal from those direct statements. "Well, then," goes on the feminine, "why give the man an advantage? Why allow him privileges denied the woman? Why permit him to gallivant all over the face of the habitable globe, displaying his manly charm and captivating the girl who is willing to be captivated, and then bringing tears and sorrow into her sweet young life by the discovery that he is mortgaged goods?

"When a girl wears an engagement ring it constitutes a 'hands off' sign to all mankind, with one exception. When she wears a wedding ring it ought to constitute such a sign, and sometimes does. But there is no such safeguard in the case of the man. He may dance all evening with a new girl and lead her out to the palm room and tell her all she has known ever since she knew anything relative to her prettiness, and the shell-like pinkness of her little ear, and a good deal more in the same lines, and she, poor, innocent, confiding thing, will believe him and let her young fancy turn to thought of engagement. And all the time he may be engaged to another girl, or married, for all she knows.

"That's where the girl is at a disadvantage. The man ought to be compelled by act of Legislature to wear a ring."

A radical change in housekeeping methods is inevitable. In that change will come that sure remedy for the phase of industrial discontent that we as housekeepers confront in kitchens. The relations between mistress and maid will be wisely adjusted; there will be fuller recognition by each of the rights and duties of each. Reciprocity will be strictly maintained, and domestic service have its rightful and honored place among the leading industries.

Then housework will attract, and not, as now, repel, capable, intelligent women, without whose faithful service an ideal home life may not be preserved. How to secure the services of such a woman is a question of more importance than any absorbing the woman's clubs at present.

How to manage the typical incompetent housemaid, how to train her into comparative adequacy for the place that she will fill no longer than it takes to find something else (almost anything else) to do, how to suspend the trite discussions for a while and take up something like this: Is it not imperative that housekeepers unite in making domestic service more attractive to capable and intelligent women?

CRICKET.

MERRIMACKS 70, LAWRENCE 45.

The Merrimacks defeated the Lawrences Saturday at Burnham's park by a score of 70 to 45.

The feature of the game was the batting of Gordon and the bowling of S. Whitaker, who took four wickets for seven runs; Robertshaw taking five wickets for 20. For Lawrence Walker and Walnwright played good cricket. Gill taking four wickets for five runs and Walker 5 for 16.

The fielding of the Lawrences was father loose as they allowed the Merrimacks 26 extras.

Redehough of the Lawrence team was put out of the game early, a ball striking him over the eye and making a severe cut. He was assisted to Dr. O'Connor's office, where six stitches were put in the wound.

THE YOUNGEST PEACE OFFICER

The youngest peace officer in the United States lives at Congress. He is Richard Boscha, 14 years old, the son of Deputy Sheriff Pete Boscha, who has been a deputy sheriff under all administrations in Vavapai county for 20 years—a fearless and efficient officer.

Edward Boscha is a small boy of 14. He has black hair and eyes and a look of great intelligence. He came to Phoenix recently, bringing the 16-year-old son of a county official who had become infatuated with the "Coontown 400" and ran away with it. Young Boscha was asked if the young man was glad to go back. "No," he said, "he didn't want to come, but there was no way out of it for him." Another boy, the step-son of a well known resident of Phoenix, also ran away with the show. He was with it at Congress and has not been apprehended. The boys were to get $1 a day and board. Their part in the performance was assistants in the erection of the tent. The next stopping place after Congress, the boys understood, was to be Denver. There was to be five days of nothing to do but eat and draw their salaries. In consequence, they desired to remain with the show a few days, anyhow.

Young Mr. Boscha first came into prominence about a year ago by the arrest of a Mexican for whom the officers had been looking for some time. He and another Mexican fought a duel intended to be deadly for the favor of a senorita. One of them was wounded and the other left the country. Some months afterward this little boy, then only 13 years old, found the duellist, and at the point of a gun took him into camp.

Here is a Dixie egg dish easy to make and appetizing for lunchaon: Cut four hard boiled eggs into thin slices, place in a baking dish with alternate layers of grated cheese, sprinkle with a shake or two of red pepper, a saltspoonful of salt and a dash of nutmeg; sprinkle the top with grated bread and dot over with butter. Bake until a rich brown.

Try this recipe for barbecued ham: Place five slices of cold boiled ham in a hot frying pan (each of which has been seasoned with a teaspoonful of made mustard); pour over four tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook briskly, turning the ham often, for about 15 minutes. Dish the ham on a platter, thicken the gravy and pour over the slices.

For a change from the general run of salads, beet salad may prove attractive when tender new beets are used. Boil the beets, and when cold cut them into dice. Cover them with tartar sauce, made as follows: Chop very fine a small piece of onion, a sprig of parsley, and one or two pickles, depending upon their size. Add to these a cupful of mayonnaise dressing and a little finely chopped tarragon.

MAKING IT A CINCH.

The Deacon—Cromwell tells us to trust in the Lord, but to keep our powder dry.

The Parson—Well?

The Deacon—Well, I've been thinking that, while it's all right to keep on praying for rain, we'd better have a Sabbath school picnic, too.—Detroit Journal.

Chandler Knew His Family.

A young man went into a Boston office a few days ago for the purpose of transacting some business. The proprietor, on learning his errand, and not being acquainted with him, besides not being wholly satisfied with his full name, which he gave on entering, addressed him in a blunt and rather sarcastic manner, by saying: "Well, who are you?"

The young man, after pausing a few seconds in surprise and somewhat vexatious bewilderment drew a diary from his pocket and read: "In 1636 a child was born and christened by the name of Roger Chandler. In 1658, when he became a man, he went out from the Plymouth colony to Concord, Mass., with 20 other settlers, where they had a grant of 400 acres of land. In this town he built a house, which was afterwards occupied by Soler Davis.

"In 1671 Mr. C. married Miss Mary Simonds. He was 80 years of age when he passed from this world into the great unknown, leaving a son Samuel, who lived to the age of 70 years, after marrying Miss Dorcas Buss, who is buried beside him in Concord, Mass., having expired 14 years later.

The son's name was James Chandler. This man had three wives. They are buried in the cemetery at Concord Centre, nearly opposite Wright's Tavern, side by side, and I often compare this prehistoric ancestor of mine," says young Chandler, looking up from his book, "to one of the other true sons of the pilgrims, where in a village in Connecticut, a graveyard contains the bones of a man surrounded by five wives, who in succession had shared his lot, and he rests in the centre in serene felicity with the epitaph upon the old slate headstone that entombs him, inscribed, "Our husband.' (Now, whose husband shall he be in the world to come if it shall then turn out that certain prophecies come true?)

"A tall, old-fashioned clock owned by this Mr. Chandler in 1748 is at the antiquarian rooms, Concord, at the house once owned by Capt. Reuben Brown, and today can be seen or heard ticklnk away and measuring that thing that means nothing to itself but much for man—time.

"Then next came John Chandler. I can now begin to reckon more readily. He was my great grandfather, a man of great ambition, owning his his time nearly a whole township in northeastern Massachusetts, which is called Tewksbury, situated 5 miles from Lowell, being made up of very prosperous little farms. Today it is principally noted for the state almshouse which is situated there. This man wound the last thread on the shuttle of life after he had rounded out his 84th year. We frequently see men [illegible] who live to round that good old age, but how it grieves us when we think how few are able to reach half that age and square up.

"After John came his son Jeremiah Chandler, who died in 1876, leaving a son by the same name, Jeremiah Chandler, jr., who was my father. In February, 1880, he was taken suddenly ill and being unable to survive passed away from his little home, leaving a wife and two little children, one of which was myself, then six months old. This ends the history of my people, and is the best of my knowledge of whom I am."

Young Chandler was then able to transact his business without any delay. He then went quietly out, and was soon lost among the crowds to go on making new history.—Advertiser.

Sufferance (to bar-keeper)—Give me the biggest drink I ever had.

Barkeeper—Depressed?

Sufferance—No, confused. I've just been listening for two long mortal hours to my wife's arguments as to why she ought to have bee elected president of her womon's club instead of Mrs. Thatcher.

Bar-keeper—Of course, the reasons are plain to you?

Sufferance—Just as plain as a Chinese laundry slip.

Eating A Disease.

(From the N. Y. Sun.)

Like so many other conquerors, Dr. Immanuel Pfeiffer of Berlin doesn't extend into the atmosphere very far. He is of the broad school, weighed 201½ when his last stomach vacation began. He has lost about a pound a day since. "What I throw off is waste," he says; "the good part stays with me." His forearm is hard. Gracefully rounded as he is and of a portly bulk, he will jump up from his chair without bending his knees, put the palms of his hands on the floor. A hard thing for persons to do who haven't thrown off their waste.

According to Dr. Pfeiffer, disease, ignorance, sin are one and the same, a trinity evil. Are you ill?

Stop eating for as many days as he will prescribe and he will cure. Such is his theory and his promise; and he asserts that he has "saved many live by it."

Perhaps some of his patients may have stomach less accommodating and tractable than his stomach seems to be. In him that organ is a genius. When he stops eating he stops wanting to eat. When the vacation ends, his appetite returns to him, natural and strong. Such a thing it is to have a good stomach, an ingenious theory and a resolute will.

"Fast to live" is a proposition that will not be readily accepted. The butchers and the bakers and the grocers can't afford to accept it. But let the advocate of a more ethereal temper be encouraged. Dr. Immanuel Pfeiffer weighs his words and himself daily. He has solved or will solve his food problem for a month. In time he may be able to live on theory and water for a year, for life. The economic no less than the therapeutic possibilities of his experiment are great. Perhaps eating is a disease that can be cured.

ANECDOTES OF TURNER.

(From the London Chronicle.)

Mr. R. C. Leslie (elder brother of the academician), whose death has just been announced, had some interesting reminiscences of Turner. Leslie, when a youth, used to go with his father (C. R. Leslie, R. A.) to the academy on varnishing days and there he watched the great landscape painter at work. Turner used to arrive at 6 o'clock in the morning and to work all day at canvases which were sometimes nearly blank when he began. "There were always," said Mr. R. C. Leslie, "a number of mysterious little gallipots and cups of colors ranged upon drawing stools in front of his pictures; and, among other bright colors, I recollect one that must have been simple red lead. He used short brushes, some of them like the 'writers' used by house decorators, working with thin color over white ground, and using the brush end on, dapping and writing with it those wonderfully fretted cloud forms from the rippings and flaws surface curves upon his near waters." Some of the pictures (of Venetian subjects) which Mr. Leslie saw Turner finish in this way are to be found in the National gallery.

Of Turner's queer menage in Queen Anne street Mr. Turner used to tell a good story. Turner was showing some great man or other round his gallery, when the inner door was half opened and an old man said in a low voice "That 'er's done." Turner appeared to take no notice and a few minutes later the old man's head appeared again, and said in a louder voice, "That 'ere will be spiled." It was Turner's father, anxious for the fate of his son's shop. The old man used to serve as factotum to his son. Among other things, he stained the canvases and varnished the pictures, which made Turner say that his father "began and finished his pictures for him."
